Speakers announced for Freshman lecture series

As a part of the development program of Saint Joseph's College, the office of the Academic Dean has initiated the Dean's Lecture Series for the incoming freshman class. This series is comprised of nine talks on various Monday nights prior to Christmas. The main aim of the program is to orient the incoming frosh into the life at the college, and to give them guidance as to what their purpose is in seeking a college education.

The speakers in the series, according to Father Donald Ballmann, Academic Dean of the College, were chosen on the basis of their speaking ability, and their ability to present a "dare to young men" to do the best job they can in college.

Involved in the series is an orientation handbook, entitled Academic Orientation: '64. Each freshman will be required to purchase this book. The handbook contains a series of required readings for each lecture in the series, and a reading assignment from "How to Study in College" by Walter Pauk of Cornell University. The students will also be asked to write brief essays concerning one or two thought-provoking topics suggested by each reading. These essays will be handed in prior to the lecture, and then channeled to the student's counselor. This will enable each counselor to make a personal study of each student. The lectures will be followed by a brief discussion period, and then by a coffee hour at which the freshmen can meet with the members of the faculty on a more informal basis.

The Director of Freshman Orientation is Mr. Thomas Ryan, Director of Guidance at Saint Joseph's. He is assisted by Mr. Hugh Rank, who is also the editor of the orientation handbook. Also lending assistance in the program are the two student honor societies, Phi Eta Sigma, and Delta Epsilon Sigma, and also the Scholastic Committee of the Student Council.

The dates and topics of the various lectures are as follows:

Sept. 21—"Your College Career," Fr. Donald Ballmann, Academic Dean.

Sept. 28—"The Learning Process," Mr. Robert Shemky, Education Department.

Oct. 5—"The Creative Use of Leisure," Fr. Ernest Ranly, Philosophy Department.

Oct. 12—"Integration of Knowledge," Fr. Donald Shea, History Department.

Oct. 19 and 26—Various Departmental orientations.

Nov. 2—"The Search for Truth," Fr. Edward Maziarz, Philosophy Department, Calumet Campus of Saint Joseph's.

Nov. 16—"Christian Commitment," Fr. Rudolph Bierberg, Religion Department, and Mr. Robert Wood, Philosophy Department.

Nov. 30—"A Community of Scholars: The Ideal and the Real," Dr. Jay Barton, Biology Department.

Koors Award for Pol. Sci.

This year the Political Science Department of Saint Joseph's College will sponsor an essay contest which will result in the award of $50 to the student who submits the winning essay. The award, to be known as the Herman and Rebecca Koors Essay Award in Political Science, will be an annual event, and it has been made possible by a gift presented to the Political Science Department by Father Clemens Koors, Pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church in East Gary, Indiana. Father Koors made the gift in honor of his parents, Herman and Rebecca Koors.

The competition is open to all students of the College. There is no specific, assigned topic, but all essays should fall into one of the following three general areas:

Political Philosophy, International Relations, or American Government and Politics. It is recommended that the essays be approximately ten pages in length, typewritten, and double spaced. A panel of three judges from outside the Political Science Department will choose the winning essay. To ensure fairness, each student who submits an essay should not place his name on it, but should turn in to the Department a separate envelope containing his name and the title of his essay. Thus the judges will not know the author of the essay that they select as the winner. All essays should be submitted before March 1, 1965. The essays will be evaluated mainly by reference to the following criteria: Literary merit, logical development of ideas, and mature comprehension of political processes. Students desiring further clarification should see Father Dirksen or Mr. Bucholtz.

St. Joe resumes academic activities with Solemn Mass

Saint Joseph's College officially opened the school year Sept. 16 with the celebration of a Solemn High Mass in the college fieldhouse. The celebrant was the Very Rev. Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S., president of the college.

Father Gross told the crowd of 1300 that "... students have the opportunity and the obligation to prepare for true leadership in a world that cries out for Christian leaders in the whole social order."

He added, "In our largely neo-pagan, pluralistic society, the layman, who lives in the midst of the secular institutions and structures, indeed has a special work. And one of the most important responsibilities of the hierarchy in the Church today is to equip our laity with philosophy and theology, as taught mainly in Catholic colleges, for the task of service in the Church."

In keeping with the restoration of the liturgy by Pope Paul VI, the Mass involved the active participation of the congregation.

Formerly, the Mass was celebrated with the altar and the celebrant's back to the people. The Mass was said with the altar and the celebrant facing the congregation.

Also unique was the Offertory procession, in which four members of the congregation, representing the entire congregation, brought the ciboria of hosts to the altar.

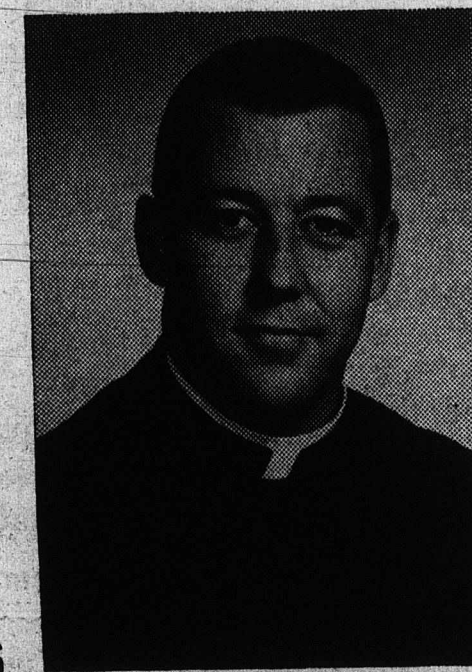

Both of these ancient rituals and others are being revived by the Pope and the Ecumenical Council in order to make the Mass more meaningful, and to make the active role of the laity in the Mass, the supreme act of worship in the Church, more apparent.

The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, C.P.P.S., president of Saint Joseph's College, announced the appointment of Rev. William D. Shields, C.P.P.S., to the office of dean of students, and Rev. Philip Gilbert, C.P.P.S., as assistant.

Father Shields, who formerly served as director of admissions from 1961 to 1964, succeeds Rev. Richard Girt, C.P.P.S.

Father Gilbert, returning to Saint Joseph's after a leave of absence, assumes a recently created position. In addition to his duties as assistant, Father Gilbert will teach mathematics at the college.

A native of Buffalo, New York, Father Shields entered the Society of the Precious Blood in 1947 and was ordained in 1952. He received his education at Brunnerdale Seminary at Canton, Ohio, Saint Joseph's College, and St. Charles Seminary at Carthage, Ohio.

After his ordination, Father Shields taught high school in Ohio, Indiana, and Oklahoma.

Father Gilbert, a native of Chicago, Illinois, entered the Society of the Precious Blood in 1952. He attended South Shore High School at Chicago, Saint Joseph's College, and St. Charles Seminary, at Carthage, Ohio. He received his M.S. in mathematics from the University of Illinois.

After his ordination in 1960, Father Gilbert did graduate work at the University of Detroit and then taught at Saint Joseph's College.

The dean of students is the official representative of the college in matters pertaining to the observance of right order and good citizenship both on and off the campus.

The Rev. Charles Banet, C.P.P.S., has been appointed executive assistant to the president at Saint Joseph's College, succeeding Rev. Leonard Kostka, C.P.P.S.

The appointment was announced recently by Rev. Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S., president of the college.

Father Banet will also retain his position as director of libraries, a post he has held since 1952. Father Kostka will assume the duties of full-time chaplain at the college.

A native of Fort Wayne, Father Banet was ordained in 1952. He attended Brunnerdale Seminary at Canton, Ohio, Saint Joseph's College, and St. Charles Seminary at Carthage, Ohio. Father Banet received his M.A. in library science at the University of Michigan.

Since his ordination, Father Banet has done parish work in Ohio and mission work in Louisiana.

Father Banet is active in library statistical studies which help to strengthen library resources and procedures. He has published "Library Statistics of Catholic Liberal Arts Colleges." His most recent work, "Library Statistics of Catholic Colleges and Universities 1959-1962" will be published in October.

President Gross also announced the appointments of Rev. Frank W. Spanbauer, C.P.P.S., to the office of director of admissions, and Rev. Richard Kissner, C.P.P.S., to the post of assistant.

Father Spanbauer succeeds Rev. William Shields, C.P.P.S., who has assumed the duties of dean of students. Father Kissner succeeds Father Spanbauer.

A native of Decatur, Illinois, Father Spanbauer entered the Society of the Precious Blood in 1941 and was ordained in 1949. He received his education at Saint Teresa's High School in Decatur, Saint Joseph's College, and Saint Charles Seminary at Carthage, Ohio.

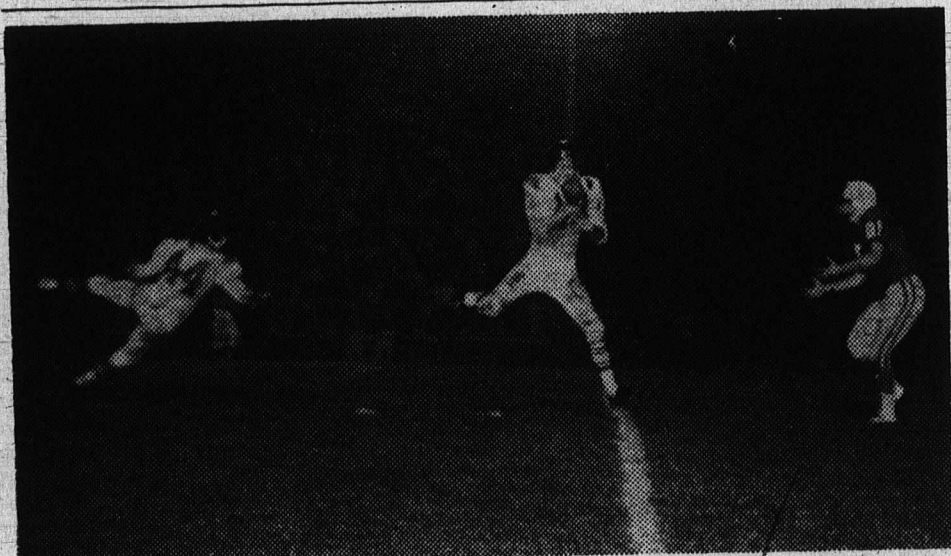

Prior to his appointment at Saint Joseph's in 1964, Father Spanbauer did parish work and teaching in North Dakota, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

Father Kissner entered the Society of the Precious Blood in 1938 and was ordained in 1950. He received his education at Brunnerdale Seminary at Canton, Ohio, Saint Joseph's College, and Saint Charles Seminary at Carthage, Ohio.

Following his ordination, Father Kissner did parish work and high school teaching in Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri. He was assistant pastor at Saint Augustine's parish in Rensselaer from 1956 to 1958. He is a native of Defiance, Ohio.

Three C's stressed by Editor to new and returning students

The start of the new school year, like a fresh start in any phase of life, never fails to bring forth resolutions, vows and promises. We swear to do a better job, to try harder, to accomplish more than ever before. It is a part of human nature. A fresh start always makes one want to do better. This brings us to the point of the matter. Will any of these resolutions be kept? Just how many of us will go through with what we have started? That is what will separate the man of action from the dreamer.

This year could be a year of progress at Saint Joseph's. There are men in positions of importance that have the desire, and the ability, to do a great deal of good. It would seem a shame, then, if this desire and this ability should go for naught, and yet it can, as it has in times past. The desire and the ability on the part of a small group is a start, but it is seldom sufficient. In the case of this college, the men who have been elected to represent the school are extremely able, but they need the student body behind them in order to function effectively.

How can the student body perform a significant role in student politics? A very simple program occurs to us, and we could call it the "Three C's." To be more explicit, Cooperation, Communication, and Courage.

Cooperation, first of all, is one of the essentials of our program. The Student Council can start out the year with unmatched zeal, with all sorts of plans to make the year a better one. But who cares? In years past, not a great number of the student body; indeed, not the majority. If they did, why such poor attendance at the Council meetings? Why was it always the same people who were there to do the work? Where was the rest of the student body? Maybe they just didn't know about these functions. If so, that brings us to the second "C" in our program.

Communication is absolutely necessary for any institution as complex as is Saint Joseph's to function smoothly. With proper communication, we could eliminate all of the petty little gripes that are constantly being aired without reason. Why not take the time to find out the facts on a question before taking drastic action? And once the facts are known, why not go to the source of the problem, in an orderly way, and try to remedy the situation. By now, most of the juniors and seniors can tell you that it is seldom that your roommate can solve the problems of the college alone. Then why confine your logic to him? Go to a Council meeting. There you can air your ideas and act as a real member of the student body. And you just might do some good while you are at it.

Courage, finally, is the last "C" on the list. Dare to change. Why go through life doing the same things wrong, making the same mistakes, butting your head against the same wall? If an obstacle is run up against, do away with it. If a certain way of doing things is not the best way, find a better way. When you see that your first attempt at a thing was not good enough, have the courage to make a better effort.

It does not take much vision to see how these three ideas can be combined. If they are, and if they are put to use by this year's student body, then there is no doubt in our minds that this will be a vintage year, and the foundation for many more to come.

Becker announces second year of Radio WRIN for community

Just a little over a year ago, a new voice was heard in the Rensselaer area. Radio station WRIN, under the management of Mr. Bob Becker, began operating broadcasting at 1560 kilocycles with 250 watts of power. Its small staff of four has, since then, increased to nine, including two office girls. An announcing staff of seven (Bob Becker, Jim Johnson, Norm Miller, Dennis James, Bob Hayes, John Ryan, and Jan Parcell) maintains a constant coverage of news, weather, sports, and music on the air.

"Stuff" reincarnated -- a weekly weekly!

To the Student Body of Saint Joe's:

In taking over the reigns of Stuff for the 1964-1965 school year, we of the editorial staff would like to take this opportunity to lay down our policy of operation.

First, then, let it be known that we take over this year with a great sense of pride, and an even greater sense at the responsibility that is ours. We are proud to be instrumental in putting out an organ that can be of such value to all involved in the affairs of this college. We are awed because we recognize that it is our responsibility to make sure that the paper does, indeed, do the good that is expected of it. We make the promise in starting, then, that the good of the College will be uppermost in our minds as we make up every issue of Stuff.

As to particulars, there are many things that we shall try to change this year. Most of the upperclassmen last year were rather put out by the "irregular" publication policy of Stuff. Without making any apologies for what has gone before, we state now that Stuff will be published weekly, on Thursday, except for the noted holidays.

Regarding news reporting, our readers will begin to find news once again in Stuff. It would seem that in years past, the reporting function has been seriously neglected, if not, at times, completely forgotten. That will be no more. We of the editorial staff feel a great need on this campus to inform the student body of matters that vitally concern them, and of which they are often totally oblivious. Our readers may feel sure that the gap will be filled. When news breaks, and it is vital, the student body will know about it.

Aside from reporting, there is another field that shares equal importance with that function. This field is that of interpretation of the news. There is a great deal that goes on at Saint Joe's, or anywhere else, for that matter, that needs more than simple reporting for the average reader. Such campus issues as student council politics, disciplinary measures, book discussions, etc. are all areas that at times need clarification. When this need arises, we will do our best to cater to it on the editorial page.

Finally, this is a student publication, and we welcome the work of any member of the student body. News stories, feature stories, humor, cartoons, or letters to the editor will all receive the attention of the staff. Better yet, why free-lance? Come up to the Stuff office on the third floor of Halleck Center, or see any one of the editors. There may be a place on the staff for you.

Remember, this is your newspaper. It is run for you, by your representatives. Read it, support it, depend upon it to give you what you need when you need it.

With all hope of a successful year, we remain

Sincerely,

The Editors

Father Shields welcomes Frosh

Dear Freshmen,

Welcome to Saint Joseph's. May your next four years with us be profitable and happy.

I am addressing myself to a group of young men who are on the threshold of manhood. Representing Saint Joseph's, I want to be a part of your progress toward that goal.

Your goal, in the most simple and pointed terminology, is: a Bachelor's Degree. This goal is not a gift. It must be worked for. It is accomplished by hard work and sweat. The Faculty will make you work, and after you have received your degree you will know that you deserved it.

It is with pride that I point out to you that Saint Joseph's Alumni are successful. They were trained well and you will be, too.

Your Hall Director is a priest. He is not a policeman. He is to be helpful to you in a priestly and fatherly manner. If you break a rule which hurts your chances of attaining your degree, or which hurts Saint Joseph's, he will give the proper correction. If it is of a serious nature, I will give the proper correction.

To all of us at Saint Joseph's it is obvious why you are here. We presume you are dead serious about your education. Do not permit yourselves to become complacent in your ultimate desire. Accept the challenge you have placed in front of you, and never let anyone or anything stand in your way.

My hope and prayer is that four years from now I will be able to shake your hand and say to you, "Well done." May God bless your effort at Saint Joseph's.

Sincerely,

Father Shields, Dean of Men

St. Joe's outmanned by U of D in opener

The Saint Joseph College Pumas opened their 1964 campaign before a crowd of 15,000 at Baujan Field in Dayton, Ohio. The Pumas faced the Fighting Flyers of the University of Dayton and the small Puma squad was no match for its giant sized host.

Saint Joe won the toss and elected to receive. Don Larson took the Dayton kick on the Puma 17 and returned it 13 yards to the Saint Joe 30. On the first series of downs the Pumas were able to move around and through the Flyers for short gains. As soon as Dayton was able to organize its defense, the Saint Joe drive was stopped. From that point on it was obvious that the Pumas were confronted with an opponent whose power and depth were simply too much.

The first period saw a determined defense give up only one touchdown. The first quarter score was 7-0. However, there was no question that Coach Ed Dwyer's forces were tiring. The second quarter saw the Pumas give up 13 more points and the halftime score was 20-0.

The rest at halftime gave the Puma squad enough breath to play the Flyers on even terms during the third period. That was the last bright spot of the evening for Saint Joe. Dayton ran at will in the fourth quarter. When time ran out, the Flyers led the Pumas by a score of 41-0.

Coach Dwyer was not completely disappointed. "There were too many bright spots for us to put our heads down. The boys played much better ball than the score would indicate. At no point did our boys quit. This desire and will to win is going to bring us back."

The running of Tom Conrad, Larry Lennon, and Don Larson and the defensive play of Terry Davisson, Dan Conroy, and sophomore Phil Datka provided Coach Dwyer with his "bright spots."

The Pumas came away from Dayton with no serious injuries. This week Saint Joe will concentrate on Saturday's game with arch-rival Valparaiso.

The going wasn't always so easy against our Puma line, as these Flyers found out. (Photo by Szwiec)

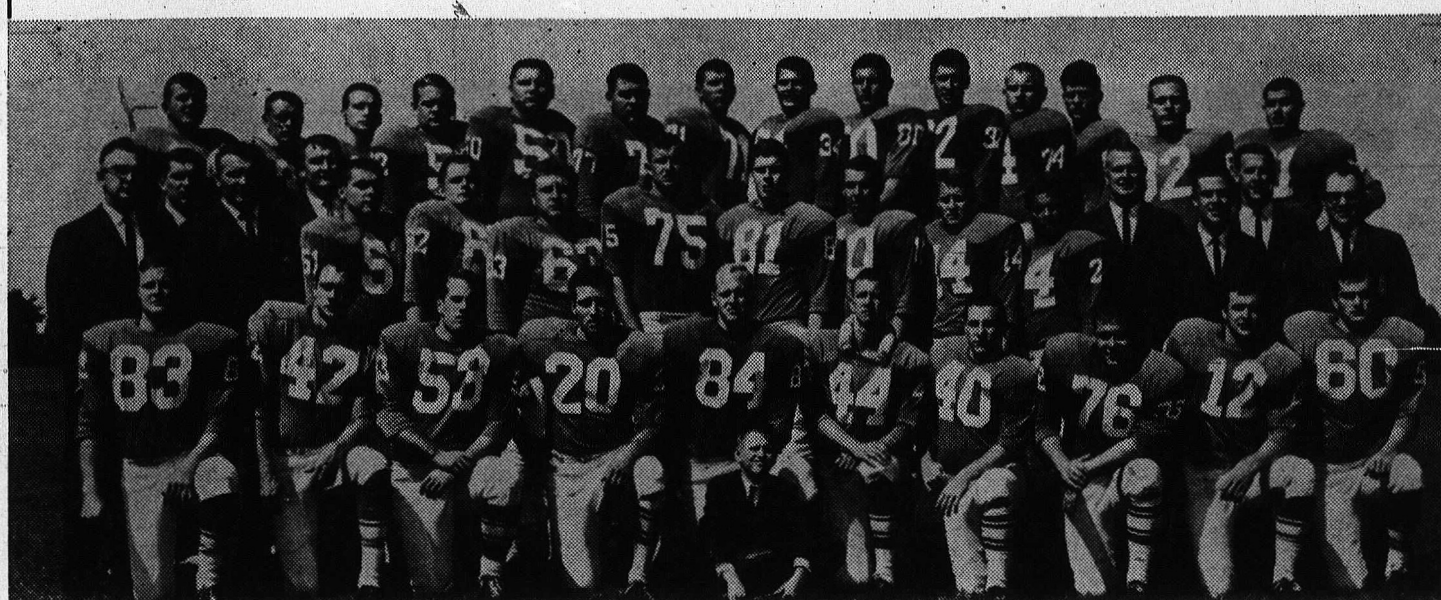

Dedicated St. Joseph gridders make many sacrifices for 'Ball'

Sometimes every member of an athletic team will be touted as heroes. Other times a small group on each will be touted as heroes, while others will remain unsung. Regardless of how this years team is touted each deserves our respect and recognition. Due to retirements, flunk-outs and injuries only a small band of athletes are present on our football field this year. Yet since August 29th they have been here withstanding heat, cold, and exhaustion. Since that date they have not had one day or night of relaxation, recreation or good times as we know it. They have been cut-off from this sort of life and have instead spent their time under more adverse conditions. The effort that each St. Joe team exerts in this manner is enough to warrant your support.

Sporting new found confidence and forgetting last year's dismal two and seven record, thirty-three varsity hopefuls reported to Coach Ed Dwyer for the 1964 varsity season at Saint Joe's. The small squad has been going through twice-daily workouts in preparation for the opener against Dayton University of Dayton Ohio. They lost 41-0.

Dwyer lost only six lettermen by graduation, but lost two more letter winners due to scholastic ineligibility and still another due to personal reasons. The hardest hit positions are tackle and end, each position lost two regulars. Joe Gugliotta and Dick Schreiber, last year's all-conference tackles, have both graduated. At end the absence of Arthur (Huck) Quigley and Al Mockaitis will be sorely felt.

Of the returnees at tackle, Rich Beiriger, Jim Kelly, Jim Metinger should prove first class replacements for Schreiber and Gugliotta. However the end story is different. John George and Terry Davisson are the only proven varsity performers.

After the end and tackle positions, the Saint Joe story becomes much brighter. The main reason for this is a senior halfback-fullback by the name of Phil Zera. Injured for the season last year, Phil was the 1962 Most Valuable Player for Saint Joe's. Although a hard driving runner and a top notch pass receiver, Zera's long suit seems to be as a pass defender, which was Coach Dwyer's main need last year. Zera should add a great stabilizing influence to a somewhat shaky defensive backfield.

The major problem for Coach Dwyer will be the healing and preventing of injuries that have always plagued the Saint Joe teams. Captain Jim Truba seems to be healed from his appendectomy operation of last spring, and should be able to take his place in the first string line for his third straight year. Quarterback John Zolecki's knee seems to be healed and, if it is, the Pumas have one of the conference's top quarterbacks. The same is true for halfback Larry Lennon, but knee injuries have a bad habit of recurring at the worst times, especially to Saint Joe footballers.

Others who will play prominent parts in the season are: Senior guard Dan Conroy, a fine all around football player who averaged nearly forty minutes per game, Phil Datka, (sophomore guard and the best young player on the team, Ron Dostal, the Canadian import will give Saint Joe's a fine breakaway threat (Continued on Page 4)

From the Pressbox First game no indication of Puma fortunes for season

by john halpin

Although many people are putting the R.I.P. on the Puma football team, don't count them out. After watching the Dayton game, I can truthfully say that there wasn't one member of our team that should feel discouraged the way he played. Saint Joe's put up a good fight against odds too high to count. The general consensus of opinion on campus is that the only mistake that Saint Joe made was in scheduling such a power as Dayton.

With the start of the 1964-65 school year, there are some very familiar faces missing. I have often wondered how it feels when a varsity athlete is forced to bow out of his collegiate career early. There are no banquets, no pats on the back or words of thanks for a job well done. This year, of course, is no exception as many Saint Joe athletes, for reasons of their own, are not carrying the Saint Joe colors.

Surely some will be missed more than others. A team doesn't lose players of the caliber of: Dave Eckerle, Ron Weber, Huck Quigley, Al Mockaitis, Chuck Ryan, and Al Dostal without feeling a great physical loss. However, there also is the feeling that the team lost some great team players. These boys didn't play for themselves, they played for Saint Joe's. Too bad no one ever said thanks! THANK you gentlemen for a job well done.

PUMA SHORTS

That big Dayton fullback we saw Saturday evening was Mickey Bitsko. Mickey played two years at Notre Dame before he transferred to Dayton for academic reasons. Bitsko is rated one of the top backs in the nation. He is following in the footsteps of his half brother, Pittsburgh Steeler linebacker Myron Pottios.

With Valpo coming up, I wonder what our beloved student body is planning on stealing from the V. U. campus. I'd sure like to see that "bell" again.

"Who's number 22?" This was the big question in the Saint Joe section prior to Saturday night's game. Then when the announcement came that it was Paul Zozel, last year's basketball captain, there was a loud roar from section H. Keep up the good work, "Bobby Joe." See you next week after the Valpo VICTORY ! ! !

I.M. Dept. presents full slate of sports for '64 school year

The intramural program here at St. Joes is one of the most highly organized programs on campus. As an assistant to the program director Donald Merki, I may be a bit prejudiced, but I certainly believe in the program.

The program is set up in such a way so that there is something for everyone. For those who don't like (or can't participate in) contact sports, we have tournaments in chess, bridge, pinochle, and several other indoor sports. For those who like the going a little rough, nothing comes close to touch football. The competitive spirit aroused by this particular tournament is amazing.

We don't want the freshmen to get the idea that junior and senior teams dominate intramurals because they just don't. For the past three years, sophomores have won the basketball tournament. Two years ago, sophomores won the football tourney and last year sophomores were the runner-ups. Freshman teams have gone far in many tournaments and with a little organization and co-operation they could go all the way.

The I.M. Department has put a calendar of events in every hall. Please become familiar with it.

The fieldhouse will be open every day from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. except when there is a home varsity athletic event. Any type of athletic equipment can be checked out.

Remember, the I.M. program is for your benefit. Support and participate in it.

Pumas in retrospect

By THORNDIKE

He was tall, dangling and slight of build. His summer ensemble consisted of the following: blue-green plaid bermies matched with bright red and yellow striped T-shirts piled on a fragile frame supported by a pair of sockless loafers. Everywhere Emil went crowds soon gathered. When he spoke pandemonium — similar to that a bug group now produces — broke loose. Emil did not possess the Kennedy image many desire in a leader but as our 1962-63 Student Council President he had that certain something. Emil Labbe recently returned to Saint Joe's for a month of study. This time his ensemble was not quite as flashy but more noteworthy. His outfit was of plain black—a zoot suit as he would call it—characteristic of a mongie.

By no means was this next man slight of build, and the only thing that dangled near him were the heads of opposing blockers meeting his forearms. You claim disbelief at this last statement? Well, the last world champion Green Bay Packers — of the football world for you intellectuals—heard of this same aforementioned prowess. A late draft choice by them he lasted until the second last cut as an inside and outside linebacker. Well, Ron Boguski is now at the University of Illinois doing grad work, and soon Green Bay will wish they had him—when the Brownies dump them for the world championship.

In the world of baseball, Saint Joe once had a very capable representative. So capable was he that he forced the baseball field to be moved from in front of the Science Building to its present location. Seems he had the habit of bouncing his balls off both Gaspar Hall and the Science Building. Maybe a few of you older freshmen once heard of him—Gil Hodges?

A mathematical whiz kid and a pretty fair basketball player—knowing him only slightly you along with sophomore Lenny Proctor, converted quarterback Dave Ogren will give Dwyer a hardrunning halfback who can throw the option pass, halfback Tom Conrad will again bear much of the running attack and can do a creditable job.

The consensus on the 1964 Pumas seems to be that they'll be a hardnosed team, long on desire but short on depth. Barring too many injuries the team could come up with a fine record for the first time in six years. Providing the group jells as a team, the knee operations hold-up, the sophomores fill the gaps and provide some sorely needed depth and the Pumas get a couple of breaks, Saint Joseph's College could be the home of the 1964 ICC football champions.

would never have believed that this guy was a 'casanova' par excellence. So '62 grad Mickey Clark has followed the same road as others with similar talents such as Presley, Darin, etc. Yes Chicago, New York and other cities have had the opportunity to see him perform. His college education suited him perfectly for his later life task, or did it? The entertainment world has gained, and science has lost.

Clark is not our only contribution to entertainment. Many years ago a guy named Gene Krupa graduated from here. For those of you who have been to the Metropole in New York, he is often there to entertain you over a $1.50 beer.

About all that there is left to wonder about is: Who will be the next Puma to hit the big time. That should be plenty for anyone to wonder about.

Time is nearing for hall gilding

Traditionally every hall on campus puts up a hall decoration of some type during Homecoming weekend. These decorations can be of any size and shape, color or design. Your hall decorations will be handled by your hall (or floor) representative. Your hall will also be designated a cite on campus for the construction and display of your decoration. The decorations constructed will be judged on the basis of quality and originality. To the hall winning the first place decoration will be awarded a 50 per cent deduction on the price of the dance of the Halls choice. By helping your hall you will be helping yourself.

Rules needed for college life

On behalf of the Disciplinary Board, I would like to add our greetings to the many you already received upon your arrival at St. Joseph's College. We sincerely hope you are able to make the most of the many opportunities offered to you this year.

This article is but a prelude to a more comprehensive detailed description of the purpose and functions of the Student's Disciplinary Board which will appear in an early addition of Stuff.

In all institutions of higher learning, certain rules and regulations must be established and enforced to insure the common good. Many of us feel that some of these rules and regulations need not apply to us, and while this may be true, we must see their necessity if the common good is to be the School's ultimate goal.

We, the Disciplinary Board, have taken upon ourselves to aid the students by keeping an open line of communication between the administration and the student body in all disciplinary matters. We have been assured, by our new Dean of Students, Father Shields, complete backing in all our undertakings. These undertakings will generally concern enforcement of the rules and regulations stated in the Student's Handbook and, in particular, on such issues where the Christian attitude of the student body is in jeopardy or where the name and appearance of the school is placed secondary to a few individuals' selfish motives.

Your co-operation is needed in helping to establish ourselves as Christian college men in the eyes of the administration and society.

I shall personally be around to your halls to become better acquainted and answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,
Larry Lennon
Disciplinary Board Chairman

Underclass support asked for counseling program

Again this year the Student Council will sponsor a Student Counseling program for the freshmen. This program is designed to aid the freshmen to both meet upperclassmen and gain from their experience. The Council, on the basis of grades and personality, has picked approximately fifty juniors and seniors to carry out this program. Five freshmen, according to their majors, will be assigned to each counselor. The counselors will contact the frosh within the first month of school. At these meetings the characteristics and habits of professors in testing, and classroom procedure in general will be discussed. Knowing the professors who control the situation you will inhabit for the next nine months will be a great aid in your college adjustment. Support this program.

MEN of ST. JOE

Heads You Win! — Tails You Win!

How Would You Like To Gamble
On A Sure Thing?

We are so sure that you fellows will want the new Levi Sta-Pressed Trouser that we will flip a coin with you to see if you buy them for the regular price of $6.98 or $5.98. Either way you can't lose.

Levi Sta-Pressed is the only trouser on the market today that never needs ironing ever; and it never loses its crease.

Wash'em in the college washer or on a scrub board—dry'em in the automatic dryer or on a bush—then put them on—they are ready to wear.
